Why is Parent Training important?

Parent training, also known as Parent Management Training (PMT), is a behaviorally-based intervention designed to help parents adapt their behaviors to better support their child's development.

In the context of autism therapy, parent training in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) is essential, as it empowers families to take an active role in their child's therapy. By integrating interventions into daily routines, parents can enhance therapy outcomes at home.

Key Benefits of Parent Training

-  Promotes Independence
-  Manages Challenging Behaviors
-  Teaches Positive Reinforcement
-  Strengthens Emotional Bonds
-  Empowering Parents with Effective Strategies

Importance and Benefits of Early Intervention

Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) can sometimes be diagnosed in children before they are 2 years of age. Early interventions occur at or before preschool age, as early as 2 or 3 years of age.

Early intervention can have a significant impact on the lives of children with autism and can help them develop to their full potential and improve their quality of life.

Parent Testimonials

SIRISHA THUMMALA

Stepping Stones Centre provides excellent support for children with developmental delays. Their warm, skilled therapists and tailored Early Intervention program have greatly helped my son with speech issues. Highly recommend!

"SSC's Early Intervention services have been invaluable. Their experienced therapists have helped our son start school and work toward independence. Highly recommend SSC for kids with developmental challenges."

-M SRI DIVYA

PRAVEEN KUMAR

A great place for children with autism, providing a supportive and encouraging environment. My son began with the Early Intervention program and progressed to ABA sessions, showing significant improvement that eased his school transition

The early intervention program for parents is wonderful. For new parents (and nuclear families), this is a very useful. The teachers are very nice and care for each kid very well.
